His complaint was one of a number taken to the police since old and new China clashed yesterday over the observance of new year's day The republican Chinese have accepted the Gregorian calendar and celebrated New Year's January 1. They objected when their more conservative countrymen observed February 5, as usual, and began a three-day celebration.

CANAL PROBLEM MAY BE LEFT FOR EXTRA SESSION WILSON TO SOLVE

The Root amendment will be taken up by the Senate Committee on Inter-oceanic Canals to-morrow. Senator Root will be heard later. It is pos-sible that other hearings will be given to advocates and opponents of the proto advocates and opponents of the provision.

While the advocates of the Root amendment do not count upon securing enough votes in the committee to report it favorably, the proposal probably will come before the Senate either through a minority report or upon the demand of some Senator.

The no-toll provision passed the Senate by a large majority. Unless a number of Democrats change their position the passage of the Root amendment does not appear probable.

Senator Newlands, an advocate of the no-toll provision, to-day introduced a joint resolution and bill defining the attitude of the United States as to foreign shipping. They would establish definitely the principle that the tolls remitted to American vessels shall not be charged against foreign ships to pay the cost of operation of the Canal.

Navy Officers Do Not Want Marcont Wireless at Honolulu.

Washington, February 5.—Navy officers fear embarrassment to the government in the announcement that the Marcont Company has contracted for a great wireless station at Honolulu as part of a globe-girdling plan of that company. A wireless plant there, they say, would interfere seriously with a similar plant of the government should the United States later decide to erect one.

After further tests of the Arlington station here, it is probable that a station here, it is probable that a station here, it is probable that a station would be at Honolulu.

The station the Marconi Company is said to contemplate erecting is understood to be one of four. The others would be at Honolulu.

The Governor spent the day here working on his inaugural address. He took a long walk in the chilly air, and was invisorated by it. His brother, Joseph R. Wilson, of the Nashville Banner, called on him-to-night, leaving at a late hour for Washington. Governor Wilson walked to-day, unaccompanied by secret service men, from his home to the Princeton University library to work there upon his inaugural address.

"I need to be as brief as possible," he remarked, "and I'll certainly read the address very fast if the weather is as cold as to-day."

New York, February 6.—With Police Inspector Deanis Sweeney and three captalus under suspensiup by direction of the police commissioner, as results of the confessions of Thomas W. Walsh, captalus and Eugene Fox, patrolman, that they shared graft money with "men higher up," there was an air of expectancy to-night concerning further revelations that appear likely to be made through District Attornew Whitman.

Up to a late hour to-night the movements of District Attorney Whitman were not known. He was not at his home. It was declared by many that he went to Captain Walsh's home, where that officer is lying seriously ill, late in the afternoon to obtain a supplemental story, one that would furnish a more detailed account than the revelations made by Walsh last night. There was a report also that Mr. Whitman subsequently visited the home of Inspector Sweeney.

BEACH, ON STAND, TELLS STORY OF ATTACK ON WIFE

His Simple Narrative Not Shaken by Cross-Examination.

FRIENDS GIVE HIM GOOD REPUTATION

Mrs. Beach, Trembling but Defiant, Repeats to Jury Her Version of Affair, Bearing Out Husband's Statement of Assault by Negro-Verdict Expected To-Day.

Aiken, S. C., February 6.—Frederick O. Beach, the New York acciety manto-day took the stand and swore that he did not commit an assault upon his wife. Mrs. Beach took the stand and testified that her husband did not asannit her. To-morrow the jury of Aiken County farmers, before which Beach is being tried for the offense, is expected to decide whether or not he did.

Ail the evidence in the case was in when court adjourned this evening. Three hours to-morrow have been allowed for summing up arguments, after which Judge Spain will deliver his charge, the last act preliminary to giving the case to the jury.

After the defense had rested late to-day, the State offered several witnesses in rebuttal to contradict portions of the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Beach, and during this proceeding the identity of the mysterious "man behind the bookcase" was revealed. He turned out to be Haddon Johnson, a young newspaper man of Aiken, who is alleged to have overheard a conversation between Beach and his wife in the Mayor's office about the assault. Mr. Johnson was not permitted to give an explanatory answer to the prosecutor's question as to whether Beach had not asked his wife to lay the offense upon the brother of a negro servant, and he declined to make any answer whatever.

the brother of a negro servant, and he declined to make any answer whatever.

Stories Told Simply.

Both Beach and his wife told their stories to the jury in a simple way. The prosecutor cross-examined each of them at great length, and called their attention constantly to statements they are alleged to have made previously, differing in some detail to their testimony to-day. They bravely stood by their guns at all times, and would not admit that any part of their narrative to-day was incorrect.

Mrs. Beach said she was assaulted by a "ginger-bred colored" negro, who approached her on pretense of having a message for a negro servant. She declared that the negro laid violent hands upon her, slashed her throat and hit her on the side of the head with the rtick; that she was too much frightened to scream at the first attack; and that when she did scream her husband came promptly to her assistance as the assailant fled.

At no time, Mrs. Beach said, had she entertained any idea that the negro's motive was robbery.

Beach did not remember any conversation with his wife in the Mayor's office, neither did Mrs Beach Soth indignantly denied the intimation that there was any suggestion of fastening the crime on any person.

Though her face was flery red and her voice trembled with emotion, Mrs. Beach delivered her narrative calmly, deliberately and with an amazing memory for details of all that happened except during those few moments when she was struggling with her assailant.

"The life was terrified out of me," she said. "I could not utter a sound.
